Millions of children around the world have become orphaned for a variety of reasons. This year, as part of our Missions Week, we will honor World Orphans' Day by considering the call issued over and over again in scripture to care for orphans. All three of our ministry partners in South Africa work to care for orphans and to care for families so that children are not left abandoned and orphaned. We will explore the work that is being done there, and consider what that means for us here in Memphis as we look to turn our attention "Across the Street" for the latter part of Missions Week.
